

$8,000 GEM THEFT CHARGED TO PAIR

One Opens Police Headquarters
Safe to Prove He's a Jimmy Valentine.

NEW YORK JOB PLANNED

A young man who gave his name as William T. Smith was locked up in the Tombs yesterday, being charged with bringing stolen jewelry into this State. Before he was placed in a cell he talked freely and epigrammatically about his marvellous skill as a safe opener. He opened the big safe at Police Headquarters just to show Inspector Faurot that he was a Jimmy Valentine. He asserted that he was a graduate of Dartmouth College too.

Last night, however, the mother of the young man was found at his home in Newark. She said her son had never been to college, but that he had been in insane asylums on four different occasions, twice at White Plains and twice at Central Islip. He ran away and joined the navy, Mrs. Smith said, but was discharged for insanity. That was on August 10.

Smith and his companion, Joseph Cooney, are charged with bringing into this State $8,000 worth of stolen jewelry which, it is alleged, they got from the home of Mrs. George Richards at Media, Pa., on February 13.

"There isn't a safe without a time lock which I can't open," was one of Smith's statements. "It's perfectly easy. All you need are sensitive fingers and a quick ear. You just turn the knob on the safe until you feel it grow a bit stiff and then listen carefully until you hear the tumblers drop. As the pivots fall you reverse and keep on." Besides telling how he got a place with the Richards family at Media by answering an advertisement, the young man's tale recounted how he enlisted in the Marine Corps and bought his discharge after serving two years, how his well-to-do father sent him to college, how his father's influence enabled him to complete his course in two years, and how he returned to Newark to work "on a scheme for detecting burglars."

CENSUS? NO, A FIGHT.

Italian Didn't Know What It Was —Three Hurt in Scrimmage.

Vincenzo Delucia, a junkman of 155 Chester street, East New York, didn't know what a census taker was, and when Jacob Goodman called on him in that capacity yesterday and began to ask questions he became incensed and ordered Goodman out of his place. An argument followed and blows were struck. Goodman ran into the street and summoned Policeman Joseph Becker.

As Becker entered the shop, Delucia struck him with a heavy iron bar, laying the policeman's scalp open. Becker knocked the man down with his club and Delucia ran into the back yard, leaped the fence and made his way to the street while his brother, Frank Delucia, fought the policeman.

Delucia ran to Bristol street and into a yard at 95. There he met his down-fall at the hands of Harry Sang, 15 years old, of 88 Bristol street. The boy met Delucia in the back yard and swung on him. He got a sprained wrist for his pains, but Delucia dropped and Becker arrested him.

Two ambulances were called, bringing Dr. Reeves of the St. Michael's Hospital and Dr. Baradat of St. Mary's. Delucia was taken to St. Mary's Hospital, suffering from a possible fractured skull. Policeman Becker was taken to his home and Sang's sprained wrist was fixed up. Both Vincenzo Delucia and his brother were arrested for assault.

CHILDREN VISIT NAVY YARD.

Honor Pupils of Brooklyn Schools
See War Ships.

More than 30,000 children stormed Uncle Sam's dreadnaughts yesterday. They were the honor pupils of the public schools of Brooklyn and they visited the navy yard in a body.

They swarmed over the seven big ships, as well as the torpedo boats and the submarines, and inspected every nook and cranny, invading parts that the agents of many foreign powers would pay large sums to visit.

They enjoyed playing with the animal mascots of the sailors so much so that most of the pets were forced to seek refuge in the lower regions.

U. S. MUST BE READY,

ASSERTS NAVAL CHIEF

Admiral Benson to Put Fleet in Good Shape Before Asking New Ships.

PHILADELPHIA, June 5.—A warning to the United States to be prepared to meet military emergencies at the conclusion of war now convulsing Europe was sounded by Rear Admiral William Shoup Benson, Chief of Naval Operations, to-night at a dinner given in his honor by a group of prominent Philadelphians. The Admiral expressed the belief that the nation would be prepared to meet any crisis that might arise, but he insisted that the surest way to prevent trouble was to be adequately bulwarked against it.

"When the war in Europe is ended there will be tremendous indemnities to be paid," he said. "Our national wealth will remain undiminished. Already the eyes of avarice have been turned upon us. What the result will be God alone knows. But we do know that if we are properly prepared, there is no nation on earth that dare attack us. I do not believe we will have trouble, at the same time the safeguard is preparedness. Everything in this direction that should be done I am sure, will be done."

After expressing faith in Secretary Daniels, who was unable to attend the dinner, Rear Admiral Benson outlined his plan of action as Chief of Naval Operations.

First, he said, his idea would be to bring the existing fleet up to the highest standard of efficiency, every battleship, every cruiser, every destroyer, every torpedo boat, every auxiliary, before appealing to Congress for more. He is confident, he said, that when this is done Congress will realize the necessity of enlarging the navy.

Again emphasizing the imperative and immediate need of a higher standard of naval efficiency the speaker added:

"We hear a great deal of the navy we ought to have. Of course we should have a greater navy, but before talking about what we should have we should make the best that possibly can be made of what we have got. It is along this line that my first efforts will be directed."

CONEY CABARETS SNUFFED OUT.

"Reveries" Suppressed and Restaurant Costume Shows Must Go.

Coney Island is to lose one of its traditional forms of entertainment this summer. The so-called "reveries," in which short skirted girls amble on the stage of a concert hall while drinks are served to the spectators at tables, are to be suppressed.

The Department of Licenses has ruled that these shows must be lifted as theatrical performances, and as such should have a license costing $500 a year. But as the buildings do not conform to the rules prescribed for theatres the licenses can't be obtained.

The law forbidding restaurants to give costume, stage or scenery shows will also be enforced. License Commissioner Bell has so announced after receiving reports from two inspectors who have been inspecting Coney after dark.

ARRESTED ON MURDER CHARGE

Former Jockey Accused of Killing a Boston Junk Dealer.

Delevan J. Rogers, a former jockey, was arrested yesterday afternoon in the home of his sister at 414 Summit avenue, Jersey City, charged with having killed last Saturday in Boston Samuel Cohen, a junk dealer.

The police say Rogers signed a confession in which he said that he and a friend, Frank Tracy, had lured Cohen into the cellar of their boarding house by telling him they had a lot of brass to sell and that when Cohen refused to obey their order to throw up his hands Tracy shot and killed him. At the time another junk dealer, Morris Trankler, whom they had lured to the cellar and robbed of $25, was in a closet where they had locked him. The two men dug a grave in the cellar and buried Cohen's body and came on to New York where they separated.

FEARS ARREST, TAKES POISON.

Swallows Pills Given as Detective Enters His House.

John Brower, 33, a driver, of 216 North Sixth street, Williamsburg, tried to end his life yesterday by swallowing pills when he saw a Detective Miller of the Seventh branch enter the house with a warrant for his arrest on a charge of grand larceny.

Brower was employed by William Michael, a truckman of 197 Fourth street. It was alleged that a week ago he misappropriated $75. The detective called an ambulance and took the man to St. Catherine's Hospital. Brower's condition is critical.

LANDSTURM FOR CANADA.

OTTAWA, June 5.—The Dominion Government has decided to organize the militia reserve of Canada, which will be available to recruits for active service. It is estimated that there are 200,000 men in Canada under 50 years of age who have been connected with the active militia at one time or another. They will be organized to an extent not yet announced, and will thus form a kind of Canadian landsturm, a sort of third line of defense ready in case of necessity.

JUNE 14 AND 15 TO BE ARMY AND NAVY DAYS

National Conference Planned on "Peace and Preparation" —Governors Invited.

Army and navy days will be the 14th and 15th of this month. The National Security League has arranged its "peace and preparation conference" at the Hotel Astor on those days and will call together from all over the nation the Governors of States and Mayors of cities, along with representatives of military organizations, to discuss plans for alleviating the unpreparedness of the United States and its danger from attack.

The conference will open on Monday, June 14, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon with a discussion of the weakness of the country's army, and in the evening a mass meeting will be held at Carnegie Hall with Alton B. Parker as the chairman.

The next day will be Navy Day, and will begin with a session at the Hotel Astor at 10 A. M., followed by a luncheon. Immediately after the luncheon an executive session will be held, at which the delegates will draw up resolutions calling for action on the part of the United States to prepare itself for defense in case of need.

Addresses will be made on both days by former secretaries of the army and navy, including Jacob M. Dickinson, Henry L. Farnham, Charles J. Bonaparte and George von L. Meyer. Other speakers will be the Rev. Dr. Lyman Abbott, Hulsean Maxim, Frederic R. Condit and George H. Putnam.

Representatives will be present from the American Legion, Navy League, Grand Army of the Republic, Aero Club of America, Sons of the Revolution, Daughters of the Revolution, Sons of Veterans, New York Peace Society and others.

An exhibition has been arranged at the hotel to show the comparative strength of the United States and other countries, together with views of the armed forces of this country on land and sea.

AGED 16, ATTEMPTS SUICIDE.

Boy Who Says He Is Doctor's Son
Shoots Himself in Park.

Irving Hupp, 16 years old, who gave his address as 1135 Madison avenue, attempted to commit suicide early last evening by shooting himself in the breast with a revolver in Central Park near Eighty-second street. Mounted Policeman Traynor heard the shot and found the boy lying in the path. He summoned an automobile and took Hupp to Mount Sinai Hospital, where it was said he will recover.

At the hospital Hupp declared he was the son of Dr. C. S. Hupp of the same address. The physician was notified and hurried to the hospital. Later both Dr. Hupp and the hospital authorities refused to say whether or not he had identified the boy as his son.

MURDER BY WIRELESS CHEMIST'S DELUSION

W. G. Holldorff Fancies C. A.
Spreckels Tries to Kill Him—Is Committed.

YONKERS, June 5.—Because he was a victim of delusions, which he realized were nothing else, Willy G. Holldorff, head chemist of the local plant of the Federal Sugar Refining Company, has entered St. Joseph's Hospital here to have alienists examine him.

He will remain at the hospital under the observation of Health Officer Coons and Dr. Frederic M. Johnson, Jr., until next Thursday, when they will report their findings to Judge Beall.

Holldorff, who is 50 years old and lives at 12 Morris street, Yonkers, acted rationality until two weeks ago, when he began to be troubled with a delusion that Claus A. Spreckels, president of the sugar company, was trying to electrocute him by wireless. Holldorff had always been a quiet, reserved man, but after he had repeatedly annoyed Mr. Spreckels with his fancy the latter complained to the authorities.

The first examination by the two physicians disclosed that Holldorff was suffering from an incipient insanity that might become dangerous.

VISITORS SEE QUEENS.

Chamber of Commerce Entertains
Brooklyn Municipal Club.

Fifty members of the Municipal Club of Brooklyn were entertained with a luncheon and an automobile trip through Queens yesterday by the Chamber of Commerce of that borough. C. G. M. Thomas, president of the chamber, said the new transit lines, together with the work of the chamber had brought scores of new factories, employing thousands of hands, to the borough.

Arthur C. Perry, Jr., president of the Municipal Club, responded to the address and former Bridge Commissioner Ramsey L. Martin explained the uses of the new union elevated station which is being built on the Long Island City piers of the Queensboro Bridge.

Following the luncheon the party was taken for a tour of Queens and to the Holliswood Inn, where the Municipal Club held its annual dinner.

30 DAYS FOR STEALING HUG.

Pink in Lapel Delivers Him over to Justice.

OSWINGO, June 5.—Charles Hagadorn was sent to the workhouse today for thirty days for stealing a bag from Miss Madeline Gates. A station betrayed him.

His defence was that when Miss Hagadorn was entering a street car he wanted to put his arm around her to help her onto the runningboard. "I only wanted to assist her," he explained when the man Irving had caught him after a chase of several blocks. The same woman identified Hagadorn by a pink he wore in his coat lapel.
